De-identified Summary of Complaint
The complainant alleges that an officer neglected to do their duty by failing to conduct a thorough investigation into an alleged domestic assault and sexual assault.

Unsubstantiated Code of Conduct Allegations

Neglect To Do Duty - 19 of the Code of Conduct, Ontario Regulation 407/23, Community Safety and Policing Act of Ontario.

Decision and Reasons

The evidence indicates that the responding officer took several steps to address the allegations, including speaking with the complainant, observing and documenting visible injuries, attempting to obtain a statement and photographs, consulting the Domestic Violence Unit, and creating a separate occurrence for follow-up by the Sexual Assault Unit.

Sufficient grounds were not established to arrest the subject, primarily due to the complainant's decision not to cooperate with the investigation. Police later obtained grounds to arrest the complainant in relation to damage to a cellular phone. They were advised of her rights to counsel and caution, transported to cells, provided with appropriate attention to their physical comfort, and given access to duty counsel.

The sexual-assault investigation was referred to the Sexual Assault Unit for further follow-up. The complainant was advised that an investigator would contact them the following day and that they could then provide an interview and consent to a Sexual Assault Evidence Kit. When the investigator attended the following day, the complainant declined to participate.

Based on a review and analysis of all information, the investigation has determined that the officer took all reasonable steps to investigate the reported information and forwarded the information to the appropriate units for follow up in accordance with the services policies and procedures.
